MAKES CHARGES AGAINST FALL

Washington, Jan. 16.—Former Secretary Albert B. Fall was charged today by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, with having misled the senate public lands committee when it was inquiring into the Teapot Dome investigation into the source from which he obtained funds for the enlarging and restocking of his New Mexico ranch.

REST BRINGS BACK VOICE

Center, N. D., Jan. 16.—Rev. C. B. Madden, who was pastor of the Methodist church at Center for five years and who was forced to give up the ministry about a year ago due to an illness of the throat which threatened total loss of speech will return to his chosen work in the near future, he announced today, and has accepted a charge as pastor of the Methodist congregation at Hamilton, Mont.

DEMOCRATS TO NEW YORK

City Wins Out in Fight For Convention

Washington, Jan. 16.—The Democratic national convention will be held at New York City beginning Tuesday, June 24, following the Republican convention at Cleveland, June 10.

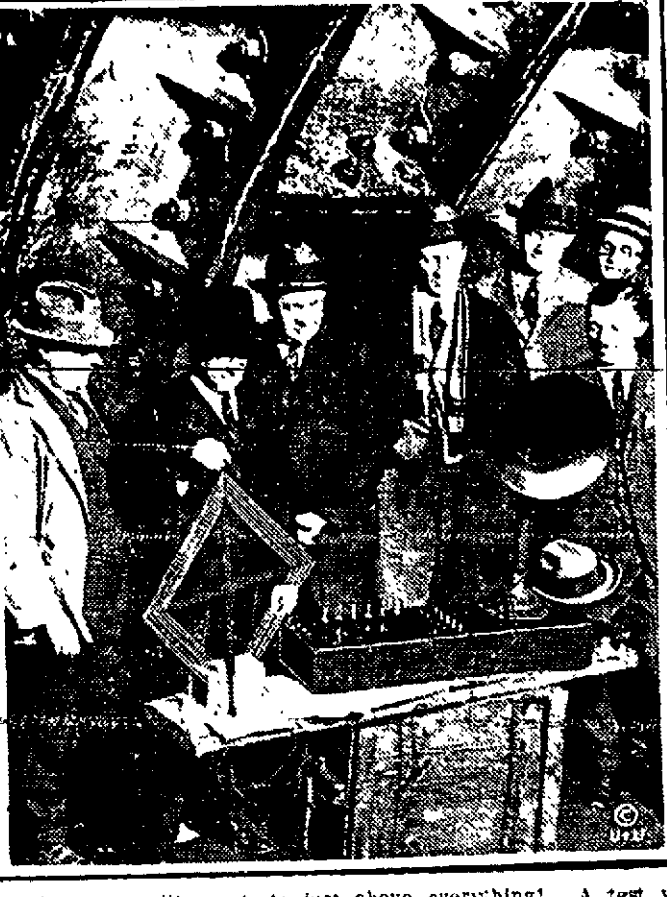

New York, for the first time in 36 years, was voted the convention by the Democratic national committee after a stirring combat with San Francisco, Chicago and St. Louis. It took three ballots and checks for $205,000 to take the Democratic gathering to Gotham; the final ballot giving New York 57 votes; San Francisco 40, and St. Louis 6, after Chicago had been withdrawn from the contest.

Many of the Chicago and St. Louis voters were thrown to New York on the deciding ballot after the second vote had given New York 47; San Francisco 28; Chicago 18 and St. Louis 11. The first vote was New York 30; San Francisco 23, Chicago 22, and St. Louis 8. New York's selection finally was made unanimously upon motion of San Francisco's spokesman.

Party leaders of all factions said the choice of New York and the battle which preceded it were without significance on the candidates of William C. McAdoo, Senator Underwood of Alabama, or others for the presidential nomination. Although the McAdoo leaders had claimed that a majority of the committee favored his candidacy and several prominent McAdoo workers had declared in favor of a western city for the convention and against New York, the "McAdoo vote" in the committee ballot was not enough to carry him.

Although he was ordered by threat specialists not to preach for three years during which time it was believed he was completely cured of the throat trouble, his voice has improved so much that he is able to resume the night service at his new home in Montana.

YOU CAN'T KEEP THEM OUT!

AUTHORITIES SKEPTICAL ON CONFESSION

Warren Lincoln, However, Reiterates Story and Signs Written Confession

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 16. Although Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer and horticulturist, who confessed killing his wife and her brother last year, is being held without bail on two charges of murder, doubt is expressed that his confession which he reiterated and signed yesterday is true.

Credence of the authorities in the statements of Lincoln was strengthened when he signed a written confession and waived examination on Saturday, charging him with the premeditated slaying of his wife and with being an accessory to the killing of her brother, Byron Shoup. A watch, thought to have belonged to Shoup and which Lincoln said he threw into the Fox river after the killing, was returned to the authorities by boys who found it in the river last summer.

Lincoln has expressed a desire to get his case into a higher court as soon as possible. The grand jury investigation will begin next month.

NEW PHASES OF FARMING HOLD STAGE CENTER

Tri-State Grain Conference Abandons Discussion of Its Original Subject

LIVESTOCK EMPHASIZED

North Dakota Marketed More Than $21,000,000 Alone at St. Paul in Year

Fargo, Jan. 16.—Farmers of the Northwest who gathered here today for the 25th annual Tri-State Grain Growers convention, which opened this morning, heard a series of practical discussions dealing with the production and marketing of farm products. How rapid the passing years are changing farm conditions in the Northwest was emphasized by facts presented by the different speakers and by the topics under discussion. This change was noted by H. W. Geary of Fargo in his address of welcome and was stressed further in the address of W. H. Peters when he pointed out that North Dakota last year marketed $21,000,000 worth of livestock at the South St. Paul market alone.

The addresses today dealt chiefly with the livestock production, sweet clover and marketing problems. No one address was devoted to small grain production, the chief aim of the organization at its inception a quarter of a century ago. The convention was called to order by Gordon Randlett, vice president, in the absence of Dr. John Lee Coulter, president, who was detained at Washington where he had been appearing before the agricultural committee of the house and senate in the investigation of the $50,000,000 farm loan bill of which he is joint author. Dr. Coulter will deliver his annual address, "The Accelerated Diversification Plan," tomorrow. That there is no danger of overproduction of dairy products was asserted in the address of L. E. Beloit, chief of division of dairy husbandry of the University of Minnesota. He declared, in order normal and dairying offers one of the best methods of putting the Northwest farmer on a better financial basis.

Taylor was exonerated after an hour's examination by Assistant District Attorney Morgan A. Jones, in charge of the homicide bureau. Yesterday a verdict of accidental death had been rendered after an autopsy.

2 YOUTHS DIE STEALING RIDE ON N.P. TRAIN

Suffocate in Refrigerator Car From St. Paul to Duluth

Duluth, Jan. 16.—Two unidentified youths apparently about 20 years of age were found dead in a refrigerator car when a Northern Pacific freight train arrived here from St. Paul. Death was caused by suffocation. The train left St. Paul last night.

The bodies were discovered when freight handlers opened the car shortly after its arrival. The coroner is investigating.

When the youths boarded the car, which is heated by charcoal burners, they closed the narrow air opening at the top making the car airtight. Fumes from the burner apparently overcame one while he slept, while the other, judging from the position and condition of the body, fought desperately to reach the opening.

GERMAN WILL TALK FINANCE TO COMMITTEE

Dr. Schacht Accepts Invitation to Meet Experts in Paris Conference

Berlin, Jan. 16.—Dr. Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, has accepted the invitation of the international reparations experts to appear before them and probably will leave for Paris tonight.

SECRETARY LID ON

Paris, Jan. 16.—The reparations experts resumed their work today in the news-light vacuum of Colonel Logan's office.

The agreement to give out nothing for publication so far has been kept with remarkable unanimity. However, it is understood that the committee has not started on its real task of inquiring into Germany's resources. The details of the committee's procedure are requiring more time than was at first assigned, but it was expected that these would be completed today and that the committee's work would really get under way.

GAS GOES UP IN SOUTHWEST

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16.—Gasoline will advance two cents a gallon in the southeast tomorrow. It was announced here today by the Standard Oil company of Kentucky. Local retail prices will be 20 cents a gallon. Other oil companies have indicated they will follow the advance.

HOUSE FIGHTS WAY TO VOTE ON ITS RULES

Democrats and Republican Insurgents Maintain Coalition During Debate

SHOWDOWN IMMINENT

Military Committee Postpones Action on Muscles Shoals Plant Proposals

Washington, Jan. 16.—(By the A. P.)—The house fought its way today on amendment of its rules to simplify procedure for discharging committees from consideration of legislation with debate unlimited, but with Republican and Democratic leaders ready for a show down on the question before adjournment. The five hours of heated discussion of the rules committee report which proposed a number of changes, no vote yesterday was taken but revealed the Democrats and Republican insurgents apparently working together in the same way that brought about the defeat of the organization Republicans Monday when restrictions were lifted against the offering of amendments to tariff and revenue bills from the floor.

Today's battle centers around the number of petitioners to be required for instituting the discharge of a committee. The rules committee proposal provided that petitions calling for such action must carry 150 signatures while the Democrats and insurgents have been insisting that the minimum be reduced to 100.

Another of the explosive matters before the house disposal of the Muscles Shoals project was stowed away today due to the military committee's decision to suspend its study of offers, but the tax rate hearing was continued by the ways and means committee and the seeds of another form of discontent were sown by the agriculture committee which devoted its session to hearing argument for and against the restoration of members of congress of the privilege of sending free seeds to their constituents.

A senate program except for committee activities, presented another broad opportunity for discussion of political issues and what not.

MAKES NEW OFFER

Washington, Jan. 16.—Southern power companies who recently submitted an offer to develop the power projects at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, are preparing a new proposal, which they will agree to undertake the manufacture of nitrates and fertilizer. The supplemental proposal, it was learned today, will be submitted within four or five days.

Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes declared: "The way of the violator grows more difficult" and "the day of the get-rich-quick bootlegger is almost a thing of the past." He said the "call for observance of the constitution should be borne to the well-to-do and influential citizens who have been setting pernicious examples of lawlessness."

Commissioner Haynes submitted figures to show that governmental control of sources of supply is more successful today than ever before.

ONE KILLED EVERY 28 MINUTES IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN COUNTRY

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Every time the clock tolled 28 minutes during the past year a person was killed on the highways of the United States and each time 2 1/2 minutes were taken before someone was injured. N. M. Isabella, assistant maintenance engineer of the Wisconsin Highway Commission, said today that the American Road Builders association.

Highway accidents claimed a toll of 15,000 lives and caused 1,700,000 injured, he declared, pointing out that the death rate from automobiles has increased from approximately nine deaths to every 100,000 population in 1917 to 13.6 per 100,000 in 1923.

Uniform traffic regulations established by all states, street enforcement of these uniform laws and construction of highways and safety education in schools are needed to curb the ever increasing deaths from automobiles, Mr. Isabella advised.

JAP FINANCIERS FEAR EFFECT OF EARTHQUAKE ON NATIONAL FINANCE

Disturbance May Affect Exchange and Loan Rates—Total Number of Dead Is Placed at 30—Hundreds of Houses Are Destroyed

Tokio, Jan. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Reports received here from the country districts to the southwest of Yokohama near Fujiyama mountain have brought the known dead total in two days earthquake to approximately thirty. Hundreds of houses, chiefly those already damaged by the disastrous tremors of last September or structures of a temporary nature hastily erected as shelters after the catastrophe were shaken down or damaged in Tuesday's tremor.

Normal railway traffic and other communications virtually have been restored. Great anxiety is manifest in financial circles over the probable effect the new earthquake disturbance may have on the exchange and loan situation.

WHAT'S IN NAME? NOTHING HERE

"What's in a name?" Requisition has been made on the Governor of Minnesota by Governor Nestos for the return to Dunn county from Duluth of E. Z. Mark, who is alleged to have obtained $820 from Mrs. A. B. Curry under false pretense. Mark, it is alleged in the complaint, purchased horses from her and gave a worthless check for the amount.

Expected to be Ready For Skaters by 7 p. m. Committee Announces

The city's municipal skating rink will be opened to skaters tonight, it was said today by L. S. Crawford, chairman of the civic committee in charge of the rink.

Flooding of the rink began Monday, after unfortunate delays in the completion of pipe laying and water connections with the water mains, caused by extremely cold weather. Water was still being thrown on the rink today, but with below zero weather it was expected to be a solid sheet by night.

While the surface will not be as good as it is expected to be later, it will be opened to skaters. The rink is about 100 by 250 feet, electric lighted and has a warming house. The rink is in addition to those maintained at the William Moore and St. Mary's schools.

FEDERALS CLAIM GAINS

Report Revolutionist Soldiers Are Beaten in Big Offensive

Washington, Jan. 16.—Steps are being taken by the Washington government to stop interference with American vessels at Tampico by the blockade set up at Vera Cruz by the De La Huerta forces and also to reopen wireless communication with American ships.

De La Huerta as an individual is to be informed by the state department that the United States cannot permit the interruption of legitimate business communications.

IN DISTRESS

Galveston, Jan. 16.—The United States cruiser Tacoma is aground on the Banquillas reef, 16 miles from Vera Cruz, and is sending out distress calls, according to advices received at the hydrographic office here today. Wireless messages intercepted by the naval station here sent out by the Tacoma appealed to the American consul at Vera Cruz for two strong tugs, saying that unless the tugs arrived within two hours it might be too late to pull the warship off the reef.

TO OPEN COMMUNICATIONS

Washington, Jan. 16.—The De La Huerta revolutionary blockade of Tampico harbor prompts the state department yesterday to take steps to inform De La Huerta personally that American commerce in and out of Tampico was not subject to any restrictions in its legitimate operations. At the same time, it became known that representations had been sent to the Oregon government calling attention to the embarrassment occasioned American merchants through the closure by Mexico City of the cable service between the United States and Vera Cruz. It is expected the Oregon officials will find ways to permit the reopening of cable service and at the same time safeguard its interests in the matter.

FEDERALS CLAIM VICTORY

Mexico City, Jan. 16.—(By radio via the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, by the A. P.) The first battle of the federal offensive against the De La Huerta revolutionists on the Vera Cruz front occurred yesterday when General S. B. Urbalejo, second in command of the offensive troops, defeated the rebels at Tepic, Puebla, according to a war department bulletin issued last night.

The rebels fled in all directions when the federalists became hot for them, the general reports. The federal army advancing toward Vera Cruz also defeated an attempt of the revolutionists under Gen. Sanchez to surround the advancing body of troops, according to special dispatches. The rebels were forced to retreat.

The federal army occupied Tehuacan yesterday, according to dispatches.

COLLECTION OF TAXES GOOD

Percentage Paid to the State Larger Than Last Year

Tax collections in North Dakota are better than last year and are satisfactory, according to John H. Steen, state treasurer. In a statement on tax collections, as of January 1, 1923, Mr. Steen gives the percentage of collections as follows: 1921, 982 per cent; 1922, 95 per cent; 1923, 982 per cent.

Since the state board of equalization in all states usually calculates that 5 per cent of taxes levied never will be paid, the showing is considered very good by Mr. Steen. There has been paid to the state treasurer $3,798,316 of the $4,000,000 of taxes for 1923. A small amount of taxes for this year doubtless is in the hands of taxpayers and yet is to be remitted to the state officer.

Suffocate in Refrigerator Car From St. Paul to Duluth

Duluth, Jan. 16.—Two unidentified youths apparently about 20 years of age were found dead in a refrigerator freight train arrived here from St. Paul. Death was caused by suffocation. The train left St. Paul last night.

The consumption of dairy products, he declared, is under normal and dairying offers one of the best methods of putting the Northwest farmer on a better financial basis.

Another of the explosive matters before the house—disposal of the Muscles Shoals project—was stowed away today due to the military committee's decision to suspend its study of offers, but the tax rate hearing was continued by the ways and means committee and the seeds of another form of discontent were sown by the agriculture committee which devoted its session to hearing arguments for and against the restoration of members of congress to their constituencies.

Dr. Schacht Accepts Invitation to Meet Experts in Paris Conference

SECRETLY LID ON.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The reparations experts resumed their work today in the news-filled vacuum of Colonel Logan's offices.

The agreement to give out nothing for publication so far has been kept with remarkable unanimity. However, it is understood that the committee has not started on its real task of inquiring into Germany's resources. The details of the committee's procedure are requiring more time than was at first assigned, but it was expected that these would be completed today and that the committee's work would really get under way.

HOUSE FIGHTS WAY TO VOTE ON ITS RULES

Democrats and Republican Insurgents Maintain Coalition During Debate

SHOWDOWN IMMINENT

Military Committee Postpones Action on Muscles Shoals Plant Proposals

Washington, Jan. 16.—(By the A. A.)—The house fought its way today on amendment of its rules to simplify procedure for discharging committees from consideration of legislation with adequate unlimited, but with Republican and Democratic leaders ready for a show down on the question before adjournment.

Five hours of heated discussion of the rules committee report which proposed a number of changes, no vote yesterday was taken but revealed the Democrats and Republican insurgents apparently working together in the same way that brought about the defeat of the organization Republicans Monday, when restrictions were lifted against the offering of amendments to tariff and revenue bills from the floor.

Today's battle centers around the number of petitioners to be required for instituting the discharge of a proposal provides that petitions called for such action must carry 150 signatures while the Democrats and insurgents have been insisting that the minimum be reduced to 100.

Another of the explosive matters before the house—disposal of the Muscles Shoals project—was stowed away today due to the military committee's decision to suspend its study of offers, but the tax rate hearing was continued by the ways and means committee and the seeds of another form of discontent were sown by the agriculture committee which devoted its session to hearing arguments for and against the restoration of members of congress to their constituencies.

PROHIBITION ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes Sees Bootleggers' Profits Fading

Washington, Jan. 16.—Today, the fourth anniversary of the eighteenth amendment, was celebrated by the Jubilee committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America by address of prominent party leaders, a reception at the White House to deliver a pledge of loyalty to prohibition and the constitution to President Coolidge and dedication of a headquarters building for the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes declared: "The way of the violator grows more difficult" and "the day of the get-rich-quick bootlegger is almost a thing of the past."

He said the "call for observance of the constitution should be borne to the well-to-do and influential citizens who have been setting pernicious examples of lawlessness."

Commissioner Haynes submitted figures to show that governmental control of sources of supply is more successful today than ever before.

JAP FINANCIERS FEAR EFFECT OF EARTHQUAKE ON NATIONAL FINANCE

Disturbance May Affect Exchange and Loan Rates—Total Number of Dead Is Placed at 30—Hundreds of Houses Are Destroyed

Tokio, Jan. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Reports received here from the country districts to the southwest of Yokohama near Fujiyama mountain have brought the known dead total in two days earthquake to approximately thirty.

Hundreds of houses, chiefly those already damaged by the disastrous tremors of last September or structures of a temporary nature hastily erected as shelters after the catastrophe were shaken down or damaged in Tuesday's tremor.

Normal railway traffic and other communications virtually have been restored.

Great anxiety is manifest in financial circles over the probable effect of the new earthquake disturbances may have on the exchange and loan situation.

"What's in a name?" Requisition has been made on the Governor of Minnesota by Governor Nestos for the return to Dunn county from Duluth of E. Z. Mark, who is alleged to have obtained $620 from Mrs. A. B. Curry under false pretense.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Six bandits held up and robbed the Lansing State bank of Lansing, Ill., a suburb near Hammond, Ind., today, shot and perhaps fatally wounded John Beckman, a lumberman of Hammond, who tried to prevent their escape and fled with $7,500.

Uniform traffic regulations established by all states, strict enforcement of these uniform laws and caution signs, systematic maintenance of highways and safety education in schools are needed to curb the ever mounting deaths from automobiles, Mr. Isabella advised.

U. S. Senator Lynn J. Frazier has filed objections to the confirmation of Postmaster H. T. Murphy, of this city, according to newspaper dispatches from Washington.

The financial statement considered by the directors showed total admitted resources of $1,188,854.36, the net reserve was increased from $725,096 in 1922 to $892,016 in 1923 and over $300,000 in liquid assets was reported.

At the same time, it became known that representations had been sent to the Oregon government calling attention to the embarrassment occasioned American nationals through the closure by Mexico City of the cable service between the United States and Vera Cruz. It is expected the Oregon officials will find a way to permit the reopening of cable service and at the same time safeguard its interests in the matter.

FEDERALS CLAIM VICTORY

Mexico City, Jan. 16.—(By radio via the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, from the A. P.)—The first battle of the federal offensive against the De La Huerta revolutionists on the Vera Cruz front occurred yesterday when General S. B. Urbalejo, second in command of the offensive troops, defeated the rebels at Tepic, Puebla, according to a war department bulletin issued last night.

The rebels fled in all directions when the federal fire became too hot for them, the general reported. The federal army advancing toward Vera Cruz also defeated an attempt of the revolutionists under Gen. Sanchez to surround the advancing body of troops, according to special dispatches. The rebels were forced to retreat.

COLLECTION OF TAXES GOOD

Percentage Paid to the State Larger Than Last Year

Tax collections in North Dakota are better than last year, and are satisfactory, according to John Steen, state treasurer. In a statement on tax collections, as of January 1, 1923, Mr. Steen gives the percentage of collections as follows: 1921, 98.2 per cent; 1920, 93 per cent; 1921, 93.2 per cent; 1922, 797 per cent.

Since the state board of equalization in all states usually calculates that 5 per cent of taxes levied never will be paid, the showing is considered very good by Mr. Steen.

There has been paid to the state treasurer $3,798,316.10 of the $4,765,284.41 levied for 1922. A considerable amount of taxes for this year doubtless is in the hands of taxpayers and yet is to be remitted to the state office.

IN DISTRESS

Galveston, Jan. 16.—The United States cruiser Tacoma is aground on the Banquillas reef, 16 miles from Vera Cruz, and is sending out distress calls, according to advices received at the hydrographic office here today. Wireless messages intercepted by the naval station here sent out by the Tacoma appealed to the American consul at Vera Cruz for two strong tugs, saying that unless the tugs arrived within two hours it might be too late to pull the warship off the reef.

At the same time, it became known that representations had been sent to the Oregon government calling attention to the embarrassment occasioned American nationals through the closure by Mexico City of the cable service between the United States and Vera Cruz. It is expected the Oregon officials will find a way to permit the reopening of cable service and at the same time safeguard its interests in the matter.

AT THE MOVIES
The many admirers of Florence Vidor, and they are legion, will rejoice in the announcement of the Capitol theater that she will be presented as a star in her own right in "Woman, Wake Up!" showing tonight.

CAPITOL
Associated Exhibitors is the lucky concern that proudly introduced Miss Vidor as a star. They believe that there is no woman on the screen today with the charm, womanly appearance and personality of Florence Vidor whose recent pictures have been "Lying Lids," "Beau Reveil" and "Hail the Woman."

A radiant, lovely, exquisite woman, she has beauty, charm, poise, style and, greater than all these, intelligence. Florence Vidor's personality is made of the stuff that wears. She scintillates like the facets of a perfectly cut diamond, and she is equally fascinating and alluring. In "Woman, Wake Up!" she is introduced as a whole-some, athletic girl, living a secluded outdoor life in the mountains. She married a gay trifter and goes to the city, where she finds it difficult to hold the attention of her husband against the sophistication of his set. Awakened to the necessity for action, she plays the husband's own game, until he is perfectly willing to establish a fifty-fifty basis.

Lemon Juice Whitens Skin
The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also to soothe red, rough or chapped hands and face. You must mix this remarkable bleach yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(Established 1873)

WHO WAS HE?

Here is a mystery. In 1832 an artist took a block of arble and sculptured a bust of one of the great men of that riod in the world's history. Since then this marble bust as been on exhibition in the museum of the Middlesex Hostal School in England.

Some time ago, a visitor to the museum asked: "Who is this great man?"

No one knew!

Now the London newspapers are printing pictures of the marble bust, trying to find out who the man was and what with me in it did.

Isn't that irony? Great enough in his generation to be ignored by a marble bust in a museum! Today no one knows that laugh he was.

What do you make of all this, Watson? Well, Sherlock,

's safe to say this: The Unknown Man has had his personality and identity swallowed in the quick-sands of time.

everyday, his work must live on, influencing people of today in undetectable ways, for he must have contributed a great ervice or thought, to have his bust placed in a leading edical museum.

Saw Ma His life's work is what counts, so it doesn't matter much at no one can identify him. We don't know who he was, either do we know thousands of humanity's greatest benefactors—for instance, the inventor of the needle, the hammer, the trowel, the button, etc.

People have been too busy erecting monuments and busts military destroyers, to remember the really great.

As long as people admire and fawn over the destroyers,

the constructors will be quickly forgotten and the destroyers will be permitted to continue their destruction. What a often indictment of humanity it is, that Napoleon will be remembered when men like Edison and Einstein will be forotten!

"NIGHT OF BIG WIND"

You've heard of "The Night of the Big Wind in Ireland."

was the real thing, not a myth. Ireland has been observing its anniversary. The Big Wind started the night of Jan.

1839. It was a tornado, blowing 100 miles an hour, all night and all next day. Loss of life and property was tremendous. A fearful cold wave followed.

So terrible was the storm that for many years the Irish ated events from the Night of the Big Wind. Some still ndry. After. Others date from the Year of the Potato Rot.

Nature, playing safe, gave the Irish the power to stand ot. Even strength has its disadvantages. The strong man as to carry double.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"

"Abie's Irish Rose" apparently is going to be the most lancially successful theatrical production since "Uncle ndle and yom's Cabin." Along Broadway the showmen figure that ne Nichols, who wrote the Abie show, will pull down a total of two million dollars in royalties. It ran, for instance, weeks in Pittsburgh, where there was a tradition that no roadway production could last more than a week.

The highbrow critics in New York panned the tar out of Abie's Irish Rose" when it was first produced. The more it in the branches, the more clubs a tree gets.

DOUBLE DECK CARS

Ford has figured out another way to save money. He is ilding double-decked boxcars so he can ship his auto "two inished-aps." They say it'll save him $6 every time he ships a hing touchard car this way.

We found this item buried on a financial page. It doesn't at as much attention as Henry in politics, for instance.

It struck us as typical of what has "made" Henry Ford thical rave from a mechanic with next to nothing, to the world's richest laundry, t man.

Six dollars on every Ford car would give him in a year many millions as he has fingers and thumbs.

FOUGHT FOR CAUSE

From Ireland went 300,000 men to fight under the British g in the World War. And 49,500 of them were killed.

his doesn't include Irish from other countries. The figures, st announced by the Irish war memorial committee, are azing, in view of the traditional relations between Ireland

d England.

The answer is that the Irish fought for a CAUSE rather an for a flag. That was true of most of the soldiers in the ied armies. At least they THOUGHT they fought for a use. How many have been disillusioned?

A TERRIBLE RECORD

The gentlemen who eat statistics for breakfast announce at nearly six billion dollars were spent for building in the ited Mistakes during 1923. Nearly a fourth was for

mes. This is real progress—construction—the forward arch of civilization.

The procession of civilization had stragglers. Twenty-ght people were lynched in our country last year. A terrible record. The only good thing that can be said about it that it's 29 fewer than the year before.

MANY KINDS OF ALCOHOL

Chemists know many kinds of alcohol besides wood cohol and the grain variety found in good liquor. Commercial Solvents Corporation makes butyl alcohol, which is charmed by a certain bacteria on corn. An employee with a "Califirst took a liberal swig of butyl. He regained consciousness in 24 hours. Chemists got busy at once and discovered butyl alcohol the new substitute for cocaine—butane, it's ask youlled.

A cautious drinker will wonder how many other myseri-is narcotics and poisons may be accidentally produced by ome-brewers and moonshiners.

STUDENTS' INCOMES

The present day college student does something besides study and play football, especially he who finds it necessary to earn his way to a degree. Records for the last year at Columbia university show that men students earned money in 72 different ways, excluding methods listed as miscellaneous. Their tasks ranged from giving up blood to acting.

Approximately 1,600 men at Columbia university worked last year. One underwent blood transfusion, one was a life guard at a summer resort, 11 were Pullman conductors, two were models at a suit house, one was a furnace man, 20 did manual labor, 90 occupied clerical positions, 144 were waiters, 12 were employed by a detective agency, 32 were paymasters, 145 were protectors, 50 were translators, two were umpires and one was an actor. Another student was a publicity agent for a show, 12 were inspectors, one was a minister. There were two hospital superintendents, 31 messengers, seven chauffeurs, six caretakers, four camp waiters, six bank clerks, one bell boy, 29 companions, two waiters, five lawyers, six librarians, 132 postoffice clerks, 11 research workers, 136 ushers, 19 watchers at the polls, 262 tutors, 14 musicians, seven settlement workers, 62 salesmen and 46 traffic counter workers in the list.

Records show that 777 women at Columbia worked to pay for tuition and room rent. Many served as mothers' helpers, stenographers, typists and tutors. The women students earned money in 41 occupations; two were athletic coaches, four were attendants for actresses, one was a biscuit packer, 27 were governesses, 139 were stenographers, three were tearoom assistants, 182 did clerical work, 42 were mothers' helpers, five were companions, one was a cloakroom attendant, five were Sunday school teachers, 10 were secretaries and one was a seamstress.

According to Miss Ethel A. Breed, in charge of the appointment office at Columbia, in the full time work for women there is more demand for college women stenographers than can be supplied.

In the placing of graduates who wished permanent business positions, the report shows 45 men and 124 women obtained work; 24 graduates were appointed to teaching positions in colleges and universities.—New York World.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"There is one person we must go to see before Mother Goose comes home, children," said Daddy Gander to the Twins, "and that is the Crooked Man."

"Where does he live?" asked Nick.

"At the corner of Crooked Lane and Zig-Zag Street," answered Daddy.

"And his house is so crooked that when you enter the front door you can see yourself coming out of the back door."

"Oh, Daddy Gander, I don't believe that," laughed Nancy.

"Well," Daddy Gander shook his head. "Maybe it isn't quite so bad, but it's almost. Anyway, we have to go and see him and help him to clean house before Mother Goose comes home. He spills so many ashes out of his pipe it's dreadful, and his porch rugs get so dusty you could plant corn in them."

Pretty soon they arrived at the Crooked Man's house and went tattling on his crooked front door.

"Well, well, well!" the Crooked Man exclaimed. "I'm just as glad to see you as if you were Santa Claus. Thomas Stout and I were just having an argument and perhaps you can help us out."

"What was it about?" asked Daddy Gander, hanging his hat on the crooked hatrack.

Nancy and Nick sat down on crooked little stools to listen.

"Thomas here says that the Man in the Moon couldn't possibly burn his mouth on pease porridge if it was cold," said the Crooked Man.

"No more, he could!" declared Mister Stout with a wag of his head.

"It's ridiculous to speak of such a thing."

"Well, I argue," went on the Crooked Man, "that it could be stony cold and yet be full of pepper. And that would certainly burn his mouth. Or he may have put mustard in it—or chili-sauce or—"

"Tush! Tush!" interrupted Thomas. "There you go again, my friend! Chili-sauce would only make it more chilly. How could he possibly burn his mouth on that?"

"Oh, pshaw! You can't argue at all!" said the Crooked Man.

"I know a riddle," said Nancy suddenly. "What can go down the chimney up and over the chimney up or down the chimney up?"

Well, they guessed everything, but nobody could get the right answer.

"An umbrella!" declared Nancy. "Everybody had forgotten about the Man in the Moon and whether he could or couldn't burn his mouth."

"I guess we'll be going!" said Daddy Gander.

And do you know, it was half past nine that night before he remembered about helping the poor Crooked Man to clean his house.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW, MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON

DEAR MOTHER:

I hope you will allow me to wish you the pleasantest of journeys on your trip abroad.

I know you are going to be filled with pride when you see Alice driving away for her presentation at court.

I sometimes wonder if Leslie has any regret in the loss of all these privileges and festivities. She however seems perfectly satisfied to be a poor man's wife, especially since we adopted the baby.

Leslie writes me that Mr. Hamilton is much taken with him. Of course that makes her very happy and I am extremely glad that you have taken the kid to your hearts, not especially as my mother has not been so kind about it. She seems to think that because I gave him the name of John Alden Prescott I have done something very terrible, but I tell Leslie she is old-fashioned and we will have to forgive her.

I hope you will bring back the governor in perfect health and again please let me say that you have all my good wishes for a pleasant journey and a safe return.

Affectionately, your son, JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Save Civilization, Cries Eugenist

By NEA Service.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—If civilization is to survive, each city, county and state should begin keeping records of family history; a sort of human pedigree where citizens can obtain accurate information on the past lives of their fellow men, where persons contemplating matrimony can select mates of good stock and eliminate those with physical imperfections.

This is the suggestion of Dr. Charles F. Dight of this city, one of the foremost students of eugenics and heredity in America, who declares our civilization is poised on the brink of an oblivion as utter as was the downfall of Babylon.

To avert ruin, Dr. Dight believes, the present system of marriage making will have to be changed.

"The United States is becoming populated at an alarming rate with socially unfit, including epileptics, hopelessly insane, mentally subnormal and feeble-minded beings," declares Dr. Dight.

The character of man, he contends, is determined largely by heredity, and no environment will materially alter human behavior.

Superman Possible.

"Idiot," he asserts, "cannot be transformed into intelligent human beings; nor will brains, only partly complete, rise above the limits placed upon them by heredity."

"As scientific selection and breeding of plants have produced super-plants, so can the wise propagation of human beings ultimately result in the superman, a race of human thoroughbreds."

"Psychologists have determined that the average mental age of citizens of the United States is about 13 or 14 years and that only four and one-half per cent of the people are exceptionally intelligent."

"It is not only impossible to develop a high civilization with poor human stock, but an excess of such humans will result in the decay of the highest civilization that exists. Although it will be a gigantic task to alter the average human nature, we can safely say that with a wise application of modern eugenics we could make over the human race in 100 years transforming it into a race of mighty intellects and physical giants."

Building New Race.

These are the means by which this change could be brought about, according to Dr. Dight.

"Education of all the people on the inheritability of traits and the consequent development of higher

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddie, are particularly interested. Dinwiddie declares she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter, but all attempts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering, determined to find out who she is, follows her home from the theatre one night. Luck is with him, for she has forgotten her keys and he helps her get into the house. She invites him in and finally tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanitarium in Vienna. She asks him to join a small dinner party at her home the next night.

Madame Zattiany proves herself a delightful hostess, talks brilliantly on European politics and further enslaves her guests.

There was something of anxiety, almost of wistfulness, in her expression as she listened to one or the other doing his admirable best to entertain her. They had the charm of crisp well-modulated voices, these two men of her own class; she had met no better-bred men in Europe; and their air was as gallant as it had been in their youth. He had a fleeting vision of what gay dogs they must have been. Neither had married, but they had been ardent lovers once and aging women still spoke of them with tender amusement. And yet only the shell had changed. They had led decent enough lives and no doubt could fall honestly and romantically in love today. In fact, they appeared to be demonstrating the possibility, with the eternal ingenuously of the male. And yet nature had played them this scurvy trick. The young heart in the old shell. Grown-up boys with a foot in the grave. Depend upon mind and address alone to win a woman's regard, while the woman dreamed of the man with a thick thatch over his brains and the responsive magnetism of her own years. Poor old fighting-cocks! What a jade nature was... or was it merely the tyranny of an idea, carefully inculcated at the nativity of the social group, with other arbitrary laws, in behalf of the race? The fetich of the body. Stark materialism. However, it was

They parted at the door of Mr. Dinwiddie's rooms and Clavering walked slowly home in an extremely thoughtful mood. He felt an uneasy distrust of the Countess Josef Zattiany, and he was not even sure that he liked her.

On the following Monday night, however, he was by no means averse from making a notable personal score. As Abbott, a dramatic critic, who happened to sit next to Madame Zattiany, made his usual hurried exit at the falling of the first curtain Clavering slipped into the vacant chair. She smiled a welcome, but it was impossible to talk in the noise. This was a great first-night. One of the leading actresses of America had returned in an excellent play, and her admirers, who appeared to be a unit, were clapping and stamping and shouting; handkerchiefs fluttered all over the house. not as hard on them as on women outgrown their primary function. Theirs at least the privilege of appearing; and their deathless masculine egoism—when all was said, Nature's supreme gift of compensation—never faltered.

It crossed Clavering's mind that she was experimenting on her own account, not merely bewildering and enthralling these estimable gentlemen of her mother's generation. But why? Joining casually in the conversation, or quite without drawn, he watched her with increasing and now quite impersonal interest. He almost fancied she was making an effort to be something more than the polite and amiable hostess, that she was deliberately striving to see them as men who had a perfect right to fascinate a woman

Still—why this curious eagerness, this—this indescribable—no doubt his lively imagination was playing him tricks. Probably she was merely sympathetic. And then, toward the end of the dinner, her manner changed, although too subtly for any but the detached observer to notice it. To Clavering she seemed to go dead under her still animated face. He saw her eyes wander from Dinwiddie's bald head to Osborne's flattened cheek. Her lip curled, a look of fierce contempt flashed in her eyes before she hastily lowered the lids. He fancied she was glad to rise from the table.

"Well?" he asked, as he and Dinwiddie were walking away from the house; Osborne had driven off with Judge Trant. "Do you still think her a bass impostor?"

"Don't know what I think and don't much care. She can pack me in her trunk, as we boys used to say. She's a great lady and a charming woman; as little doubt about the first as the last. She's like Mary Ogden and she isn't. I suppose she might be merely a member of the same family—with several thousand ancestors where types must have reappeared again and again. If she wants New York society, especially if she wants money for those starving children, I'll go the limit. But I'm going to find out about her all the same. I'll hunt up Harry Thornhill tomorrow—his a request, but he'll see me—and I'll get on the track of some Hungarian refugee. She can't be the usual rank impostor, that's positive. She has the same blood as Mary in her veins, and if she's Mary's daughter and wishes to keep it dark, that's her business. I'll never give her away."

"Well, good luck. Glad it went off so well."

Y. W. C. A. WORLD TRAVELER

New York, Jan. 16.—Sixteen years of traveling for the Y. W. C. A. Miss Clara Spencer's record. Her home is the world, for she doesn't know where she may be tomorrow.

General secretary of the Y. W. C. A. world committee, is her official position. Her headquarters are in London, but she's rarely there for any length of time.

Miss Spencer was one of the pioneers in association work in foreign countries. She was one of three women to gain admission to Russia during the war and was the last Y. W. C. A. secretary to get into Berlin after the declaration of war.

She came to the Y. W. C. A. in 1902, when she returned from a five-year missionary term in Japan.

3 DAKOTANS GIVEN PRIZE

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—Judges in the second annual American Legion Essay Contest are to announce winners about February 1st in the national competition which called forth the efforts of nearly 30,000 school children in the United States.

The winner of first place in the national competition will receive a scholarship award of $750 in cash to be applied at any school, college or institution of higher learning.

Second in the contest is to receive $500 and third will be given $250 for the same use. The subject for the essay was "The subject: Why America Should Fight Immigration for Five Years" is in accord with the American Legion's stand for limitation of immigration.

Winners in the different states have been announced by Garland W. Powell, director of the Legion's Americanism Commission. A silver medal was awarded to the winner of first place in each state. A bronze medal was second prize and a certificate of merit was third. The state winners include:

North Dakota—Edith J. Petterson, Fargo; Irene Schulte, Mandan; Elizabeth Barber, Westhope.

Of every 100 young men who began as railroad firemen, only five ever reach the position of passenger engineer.

"NIGHT OF BIG WIND"

You've heard of "The Night of the Big Wind in Ireland." It was the real thing, not a myth. Ireland has been observing its anniversary. The Big Wind started the night of Jan. 1, 1839. It was a tornado, blowing 100 miles an hour, all night and all next day. Loss of life and property was tremendous. A fearful cold wave followed.

So terrible was the storm that for many years the Irish people have celebrated the Night of the Big Wind. Some still observe it.

Others date from the Year of the Potato Rot.

Nature, playing safe, gave the Irish the power to stand it. Even strength has its disadvantages. The strong man has to carry double.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"

"Abie's Irish Rose" apparently is going to be the most financially successful theatrical production since "Uncle Sam's Cabin." Along Broadway the showmen figure that the one Nichols, who wrote the Abie show, will pull down a total of two million dollars in royalties. It ran, for instance, 10 weeks in Pittsburgh, where there was a tradition that no Broadway production could last more than a week.

From the Pittsburgh critics in New York panned the far out of the "Abie's Irish Rose" when it was first produced. The more it is in the branches, the more clubs a tree gets.

DOUBLE DECK CARS

Ford has figured out another way to save money. He is building double-decked boxcars so he can ship his auto "two at a time." They say it'll save him $6 every time he ships a Ford car.

We found this item buried on a financial page. It doesn't attract as much attention as Henry in politics, for instance. And the fact that it struck us as typical of what has "made" Henry Ford's fortune is a revelation next to nothing, to the world's rich and famous.

Six dollars on every Ford car would give him in a year many millions as he has fingers and thumbs.

FOUGHT FOR CAUSE

From Ireland went 300,000 men to fight under the British flag in the World War. And 49,500 of them were killed. It doesn't include Irish from other countries. The figures, as announced by the Irish war memorial committee, are amazing, in view of the traditional relations between Ireland and England.

The answer is that the Irish fought for a CAUSE rather than for a flag. That was true of most of the soldiers in the Irish army. At least they THOUGHT they fought for a cause. How many have been disillusioned?

A TERRIBLE RECORD

The gentlemen who eat statistics for breakfast announce that nearly six billion dollars were spent for building in the United States during 1923. Nearly a fourth was for homes. This is real progress—construction—the forward march of civilization.

The procession of civilization had stragglers. Twenty-eight people were lynched in our country last year. A terrible record. The only good thing that can be said about it is that it's 29 fewer than the year before.

MANY KINDS OF ALCOHOL

Chemists know many kinds of alcohol besides wood alcohol and the grain variety found in good liquor. Commercial Solvents Corporation makes butyl alcohol, which is used in a certain bacteria on corn. An employee with a butyl alcohol bottle took a fatal dose of it.

Chemists are busy at once and discovered that butyl alcohol the new substitute for cocaine—butane. It's a good deal better.

A cautious drinker will wonder how many other myseries there are. Narcotics and poisons may be accidentally produced by some home-brewers and moonshiners.

Save Civilization, Cries Eugenist

By NEA Service.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—If civilization is to survive, each city, county and state should begin keeping records of family history; a sort of human pedigree where citizens can obtain accurate information on the past lives of their fellow men, where persons contemplating matrimony can select mates of good stock and eliminate those with physical imperfections.

This is the suggestion of Dr. Charles F. Dight of this city, one of the foremost students of eugenics and heredity in America, who declares our civilization is poised on the brink of an oblivion as utter as was the downfall of Babylon.

To avert ruin, Dr. Dight believes, the present system of marriage making will have to be changed.

"The United States is becoming populated at an alarming rate with socially unfit, including epileptics, hopelessly insane, mentally subnormal and feeble-minded beings," declares Dr. Dight.

"The character of our fellow men, is determined largely by heredity, and no environment will materially alter human behavior."

Superman Possible.

"Idiot," he asserts, "cannot be transformed into intelligent human beings; nor will brains, only partly complete, rise above the limits placed up them by heredity."

"As scientific selection and breeding of plants have produced super-plants, so can the wise propagation of human beings ultimately result in the superman, a race of human thoroughbreds."

"Psychologists have determined that the average mental age of citizens of the United States is about 13 or 14 years and that only four and one-half per cent of the people are exceptionally intelligent."

"It is not only impossible to develop a high civilization with poor human stock, but an excess of such humans will result in the decay of the highest civilization that exists. Although it will be a gigantic task to alter the average human nature, we can safely say that with a wise application of modern eugenics we could make over the human race in 100 years transforming it into a race of mighty intellects and physical thoroughbreds."

Building New Race.

These are the means by which this change could be brought about, according to Dr. Dight:

1—Education of all the people on the inheritability of traits and the consequent development of higher and more intelligent ideals of marriage.

2—Segregation of defectives.

3—Marriage laws consonant with the principles of eugenics.

4—Sterilization of hopeless defectives.

"The permanent betterment of the human race through the use of eugenic measures," says Dr. Dight, "is certainly possible, and we may be saved from the fate which has befallen past civilizations."

SYNOPSIS:

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddie, are particularly interested. Dinwiddie declares that this is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter, but all attempts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering, determined to find out who she is, follows her home from the theatre one night. Luck is with him, for she has forgotten her keys and he helps her get into the house. She invites him in and finally tells him she is the Countess Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's, that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanatorium in Vienna. She asks him to join a small dinner party at her home the next night.

Madame Zattiany proves herself a delightful hostess, talks brilliantly on European politics and further enslaves her guests.

Distinguished minority who refused to be enslaved by the Ancient Idea that iron code devised by forefathers men when Earth was young and scantily peopled. Still—why this curious eagerness, this—this indescribable—no doubt his lively imagination was playing him tricks. Probably she was merely sympathetic. And then, toward the end of the dinner, her manner changed, although too subtly for any but the detached observer to notice it. To Clavering she seemed to go dead under her still animated face. He saw her eyes wander from Dinwiddie's bald head to Osborne's flattened cheek. Her lip curled, a look of fierce contempt flashed in her eyes before she hastily lowered the lids. He fancied she was glad to rise from the table.

"Well?" he asked, as he and Dinwiddie were walking away from the house; Osborne had driven off with Judge Trant. "Do you still think her a bass impostor?"

"Don't know what I think and don't much care. She can pack me in her trunk, as we boys used to say. She's a great lady and a charming woman; as little doubt about the first as the last. She's like Mary Ogden and she isn't. I suppose she might be merely a member of the same family—with several thousand ancestors where types must have reappeared again and again. If she wants New York society, especially if she wants money for those starving children, I'll go the limit. But I'm going to find out about her all the same. I'll hunt up Harry Thornhill tomorrow—his a request, but he'll see me—and I'll get on the track of some Hungarian refugee. She can't be the usual rank impostor, that's positive. She has the same blood as Mary in her veins, and if she's Mary's daughter and wishes to keep it dark, that's her business. I'll never give her away."

"Well, good luck. Glad it went off so well."

They parted at the door of Mr. Dinwiddie's rooms and Clavering walked slowly home in an extremely thoughtful mood. He felt an uneasy distrust of the Countess Zattiany, and he was not even sure that he liked her.

On the following Monday night, however, he was by no means averse from making a notable personal score. As Abbott, a dramatic critic, who happened to sit next to Madame Zattiany, made his usual hurried exit at the falling of the first curtain Clavering slipped into the vacant chair. She smiled a welcome, but it was impossible to talk in the noise. This was a great first-night. One of the leading actresses of America had returned in an excellent play, and her admirers, who appeared to be a unit, were clapping and stamping and shouting; handkerchiefs fluttered all over the house. When the curtain descended after the

EQUITY TO BE REORGANIZED IN MINNESOTA

Fargo, Jan. 16.—The Equity Cooperative Exchange, now in the

Piles Can Be Cured Without Surgery

An instructive book has been published by Dr. A. S. McCleary, the noted rectal specialist of Kansas City. This book tells how sufferers from Piles can be quickly and easily cured without the use of knife, scissors, "hot" iron, electricity or any other cutting or burning method, without confinement to bed and no hospital bills to pay. The method has been a success for twenty-four years and in more than eight thousand cases. The book is sent postpaid free to persons afflicted with piles or other rectal troubles who clip this item and mail it with name and address to Dr. McCleary, 5542 Parkview Sanitarium, Kansas City, Mo.

hands of receivers, will be reorganized under a plan worked out by the receivers and officers of the concern, the stockholders attending the annual meeting decided yesterday. The organization already has been perfected and it only remained for the stockholders to approve the plan and pledge their support.

The new organization is organized under the recent cooperative law passed by the Minnesota legislature. Each stockholder becomes a member only and the only dividends will be patronage participation in the earnings. The membership fee is to be $10. No pooling provision is involved, it was explained.

The net surplus of assets of the Equity Cooperative Exchange over its liabilities amount to about $200,000, according to an audit of the concern's affairs read yesterday afternoon by O. M. Thatcher, certified accountant. The gross assets, the report showed to be about $224,000. About $1,800,000 of stock has been sold which now is worth about 30 cents on the dollar, Mr. Thatcher told the annual meeting of the Exchange stockholders here yesterday.

During the last five months the Exchange earned approximately $24,000 net profits, the audit showed. It was claimed that the receivership has gradually put the Exchange back on its feet and that the value of its good will among the membership and grain shippers of the northwest is inestimable. Speakers at yesterday's sessions of the Exchange, which were held in the A. O. U. W. building, devoted much attention to the recent decision of the federal trade commission charging the Minneapolis chamber of commerce with unfair trade methods and ordering the chamber to discontinue these practices.

"This decision emphasizes the necessity of the grain growers keeping up the Equity Exchange as a going concern," said James Mahan, receiver, in addressing the meeting yesterday afternoon.

MRS. JOHN BURKE, PIONEER OF N. D. DIES AT SHELDON

Judge E. T. Burke of this city has come to Sheldon, having been called there by the death of his mother, Mrs. John Burke, one of the pioneers of North Dakota, who died at her home at the age of 73 on Sunday. Funeral services will be held in the Catholic church at Sheldon on Wednesday and burial will be in Lisbon. Mrs. Burke is survived by three sons, Judge Burke of this city; John E. Burke, attorney at Minot; Thomas Burke, attorney at Hardin, Montana; and two daughters, Miss Emma Burke, instructor in Columbia University, New York, and Mrs. Roy C. Ellis of Bentley, Alberta, Canada.

Mrs. Burke had been a resident of North Dakota since 1870. Born in Ireland May 20, 1851, she emigrated to America, settling at Ft. Dodge, Iowa. There she was married to John H. Burke in 1870 and the same year she and her husband came to Fargo. The latter engaged in construction work on the N. P. railroad, later freighted between Fargo and Winnipeg and in the spring of 1882 they took up a homestead in Highland township, Cass county, residing there until they moved to Sheldon in 1892 where Mr. Burke bought the Sheldon Enterprise, which he edited until 1905. Mr. Burke died seven years ago.

Mrs. Burke was possessed of a wonderful memory and could relate many stirring incidents of pioneer days in the state.

WILD DUCKS LIKE WINTER

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 16.—Wildard Pierce, farmer living northwest of Jamestown, reports that 18 wild ducks are wintering in that vicinity. He sees them nearly every day as they fly to and from the James and Pipestem rivers and cornfields in that district. They were in his cornfield on Dec. 25, and again one day last week. Mr. Pierce says that there is always some open water on both the James and the Pipestem rivers about the springs and he believes the ducks stay in that and feed in the cornfields. He does not know the variety but says that they are a large duck. He has been in the state a long time and once shot a duck on the James river after Christmas but thinks that that one was wounded and left behind in the southward flight. This is the first flock he has ever heard of that wintered here.

R. C. Rosen's stock of men's and boys' clothing, shoes, etc., now being auctioned off. Everything must go at once. 2 and 7 p. m.

N. D. STREAMS ARE STOCKED BY GAME BODY

There ought to be plenty of wall-eyed pike in some of North Dakota's lakes in a year or so, according to E. T. Judd of Cando, state game and fish commissioner.

Over 5,000,000 of fry of the game and fish commission's hatchery at Spiritwood Lake, near Jamestown, last year, and should start reproduction in the spring of 1924, he said. They were distributed in Spiritwood lake, Red Willow lake, the Shyenne river at Valley City, Little Fish lake at Belcourt, Wood lake.

Black bass, croppie, sun fish, cat fish and yellow perch obtained from the federal bureau of fisheries were placed in Wood lake near Devils Lake, Red Willow lake and in Turtle Mountain streams. Forty-four pairs of brown trout were obtained from the state of Minnesota for propagation purposes, and placed in a pool on the state game farm at Bottineau.

TARIFF BOARD GIVEN POWER

Washington, Jan. 14.—President Coolidge has determined to leave to the tariff commission the settlement of the controversy within that body as to whether members may participate in cases involving commodities in which they have been or are personally interested.

The decision of the executive was reached after conferences with tariff commission members and attorney general Daugherty, and upon the eve of the commission's hearings upon the rates of sugar, the most important since it began operating under the present tariff law.

Mr. Coolidge has taken the position that to intervene in the controversy within the tariff commission or any of the other independent agencies of the government would in effect make the president an ex-officio member of these bodies and that such was not the intent of congress in creating them.

Subsequently good demand for cash wheat at leading terminals had a bullish influence and trade in futures deliveries was made more active than of late. The close was firm, one-eighth to one-half cents net higher. May, $1.09 1-4 to $1.09 3-8 and July $1.07 3-4 to $1.07 7-8.

Plans For Rotary Conference Told to Local Rotarians

Plans for the Ninth District Rotary conference which will be held in Bismarck in April were discussed by Fred Conklin at the weekly luncheon today following a conference in St. Paul with district Rotary officials.

Great enthusiasm was shown over the prospects for the Bismarck meeting. Sub-committees are at work preparing for the conference.

C. L. Young gave a sketch of events leading up to the Emancipation Proclamation, emphasizing certain historical facts not commonly stressed in connection with that epoch making event.

George Will gave the birthday sketch in honor of Eugene Wachtler and presented him with a gift more symbolic of the calling than appropriate to the habits of the recipient.

J. L. Larson presided over the program and the guests of honor were: Judge Coffey, Jamestown; H. H. Steele, Minneapolis; J. E. Goodrich, and A. J. Loran, Jamestown.

N. D. STREAMS
ARE STOCKED
BY GAME BODY

There ought to be plenty of wall-eyed pike in some of North Dakota's lakes in a year or so, according to E. T. Judd of Cando, state game and fish commissioner.

Over 5,000,000 of fry of the wall-eyed pike were hatched at the Game and Fish Commission's hatchery at Spiritwood Lake, near Jamestown, last year, and should start reproduction in the spring of 1924, he said.

They were distributed in Spiritwood lake, Red Willow lake, the Sheyenne river at Valley City, Little Fish lake at Belcourt, Wood lake.

Black bass, croppies, sun fish, cat fish and yellow perch obtained from the federal bureau of fisheries were placed in Wood lake near Devils Lake, Red Willow lake and in Turtle Mountain streams. Forty-four pair of brown trout were obtained from the state of Minnesota for propagation purposes, and placed in a pool on the state game farm at Bottineau.

Funeral Tomorrow

Mrs. Hazel Conley whose funeral will be held at Driscoll tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 is survived by her husband, child, father, mother, three brothers, and three sisters. Mrs. Conley died at one of the local hospitals following an operation. She was a former Bismarck resident.

WILD DUCKS LIKE WINTER

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 16.—Wild ducks are wintering in that vicinity. He sees them nearly every day as they fly to and from the James and Pipestem rivers and cornfields in that district. They were in his cornfield on Dec. 26, and again one day last week. Mr. Pierce says that there is always some open water on both the James and the Pipestem rivers about the springs and he believes the ducks stay in that and feed in the cornfields. He does not know the variety but says that they are a large duck. He has been in the state a long time and once shot a duck on the James river after Christmas but thinks that that one was wounded and left behind in the snowdrift. This is the first flock he has ever heard of that wintered here.

BANKERS BODY BACKS COULTER FARM AID BILL

Agricultural Loan Plan Declared of Real Benefit to All Northwest

Fargo, Jan. 16.—Members of the North Dakota Bankers' association are asked to support the Coulter $500,000 livestock loan plan for agricultural relief in the northwest. In a letter sent out from headquarters of the organization here by W. C. Macfadden, secretary.

"Every bank and every merchant in North Dakota should be interested in the so-called Dr. Coulter Livestock Loan bill for agricultural relief in the northwest, which is now pending in congress and under which $500,000 will be available to accelerate the livestock and diversification program outlined by Dr. Coulter," says the letter. "Every member of our association should immediately talk with editors, professional men, merchants and other business men in his community and arrange for petitions to be sent by leading citizens to all of our senators and representatives in congress."

"Coupled with a request for support of the so-called Coulter bill should be a request to our representatives in Washington to do all that possibly can be done in increasing the tariff on wheat and flax so as to cut out the 'milling in transit' in the United States of foreign raised grain. The attention of leading farmers in every community should be called to these two measures, which will do so much to aid in reconstructing agriculture in our state, and no time should be lost in getting these petitions and letters in the hands of our congressmen and senators. Resolutions from organizations such as commercial clubs and other local organizations should be sent in."

"Dr. Coulter's plan is sound economically and has been approved by some of the best men in Washington but no stone should be left unturned to insure the passage of the bill and increase the tariff on wheat and flax. When these two measures are passed our farmers can approach the spring planting season with confidence and assurance, and the reconstruction of our state will be rapid and permanent."

"Make the suggestions in this connection your sole business for a few days in trying to interest all of the businessmen and farmers in your community, and remember that what ever is done must be done quickly."

MRS. KILLEN IS RESCUED

Peking, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Juliana Killen, American missionary kidnapped by bandits who raided Tsaochang, Hopei province about two weeks ago, has been rescued, according to advices received here from Major John Magruder, military attaché of the American legation. Major Magruder recently went to the bandit infested province to impress upon the Chinese officials the necessity of taking action against the kidnappers.

Magruder's message, which was sent from the headquarters of Gen. Wu Pei-fu at Loyang, Honan province, stated that Mrs. Killen was well and was now at Juchow, Honan. The message added that the leader of the bandits had been killed.

Mrs. Killen was with Prof. Bernard Hoff and Mrs. Hoff when the bandits raided the mission at Tsaochang. Both Professor Hoff and his wife were wounded by the raiders. Professor Hoff died Sunday but Mrs. Hoff is expected to recover.

O'RYAN SEES VETSTRAINING PLAN MISTAKE

Bureau Got Started Wrong in Plans For Relieving Disabled, He Said

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—The most serious mistake of the United States Veterans Bureau was in vocational training of disabled men of the World War, according to Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan. Many of the veterans would have been better off if they had not been trained, he declared in an interview with a representative of the American Legion Weekly upon his departure from Washington at the conclusion of a ten months' investigation of the bureau.

The general said that his statement did not take into consideration any charge of negligence, extravagance or mismanagement of the bureau, but considered only the system of rehabilitation organized by the bureau.

"I am firmly of the opinion," he said, "that there are a great many—number may run into the thousands—of men in vocational training who would be better off if the government had never undertaken to educate them. By better off, I mean more able than they are now to cope with conditions and win economic independence."

"The government's vocational machinery never actually broke down, it never even started in the right way."

"Little attention was paid to getting the right men into the right courses in 1920 and 1921. The whole thing was a travesty on the name of rehabilitation. Instead of teaching men how to strike out and paddle their own canoe again, the tendency was to cultivate the habitual pensioners, who would change from one school to another and pull every wire to keep on the government pay roll."

"In 1922, when the Federal Bureau was merged with the Veterans' Bureau, things took a turn for the better and the situation has steadily improved. But the evil has been done. Instead of being taught how to become independent and self-supporting, thousands of veterans had been schooled for two years in how to get a livelihood at public expense."

"It has been necessary to drop a good many men whose cases have become impossible. I believe others will have to go. I cannot see how the Bureau can turn out men as rehabilitated, who obviously cannot make good."

Graduates are leaving the vocational institutions at the rate of 2,000 monthly, and figures prepared for General O'Ryan's investigation show that ninety-five percent of these men are doing well. Gold-brickers and incorrigibles may soon be dropped and placed on a compensation basis, it is said.
